HARRIOR

J. C. Barber
High School
New Bern,
North Carolina

Foreword . . .

The past four years have been most rewarding for the class of 1970. They have been ones in which we have molded our characters, realized our potentials, learned to become good leaders as well as good followers, and decided to do our best in whatever we endeavored.

It is written that "well begun is half done;"

however, for those of us who have determination and ambition, high school graduation is the beginning that leads to what we hope to be — the most prosperous lives one can hope for.

With the foregoing in mind, the Senior Class and the 1970 Warrior Staff invite you to share with us the cherished memories of our years at Barber; to toss your "three coins in the fountain" as we did at our Junior Prom; to catch that winning pass or shoot that winning basket; to tread with us ". . . through the sands of time."

Mrs. N. H. Harper

Our advisors are very special people. They have played a major role in the lives of the members of the class of '70. They have displayed faithfulness and loyalty throughout our years at Barber.

Mrs. E. H. Fields

To show our appreciation, the yearbook staff has been working diligently to compile these memoirs

as a token of high esteem. Therefore to ...

Mrs. O. B. Meyers

Mrs. C. M. Hill

We dedicate the 1970
Warrior.

. . . Heading

Principal, G. C. FIELDS

I am happy to extend congratulations to each graduate on reaching this very important plateau in life. However, I am sure each of you realizes there are many more hills to climb and plateaus to cross before you reach your goal.

We, the faculty at J. T. Barber High School, hope that the preparation you have made here has developed within you a burning desire to continue to improve yourselves through education and training, and that it also has instilled within each of you an undying quest for success and happiness through love and service to your fellowman.

I also want to congratulate you for producing this yearbook. I truly hope that it will afford you many fond memories as you turn its pages and reminisce through the many years to come.

Sincere congratulations are extended to the graduating class of 1970. You are now at the threshold of a new and challenging life.

Your greatest need now is the vision of an attainable goal. Then, an unfaltering determination and an untiring effort are needed to make your vision a reality.

The honor of J. T. Barber High School is the achievements of her graduates.

Best wishes,

H. J. MacDonald
